DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Applicant's amendment to claims 3-4, and the addition of claims 5-8 filed in the preliminary amendment on 10/11/05 is acknowledged. Currently, claims 1-8 are pending in this application.

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted on 10/11/05 and 7/25/07 are in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over La Fleur et al. (US-399).

US 6,593,399 B1 to La Fleur et al. discloses a method of preparing an intrinsically conductive polymer in the presence of emulsion latexes. Specifically, prior art teaches polymerization of at least one cyclic heteroatom-containing monomer (i.e. aniline) in the presence of an emulsion latex copolymer (col. 2, line 28 to col. 3, line 24). Suitable emulsion latex copolymer can be prepared from (meth)acrylic acid, and N-vinylpyrrolidone, encompassing applicant's emulsion polymer expressed in the present claims (col. 3, lines 25-65; col. 10, lines 24-58)). Prior art further teaches using 85 wt% to 100 wt% of monomer or monomer mixtures from groups A and/or B (i.e. (meth)acrylic acid, N-vinylpyrrolidone). Accordingly, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to prepare a polyaniline-containing composition as taught by the method disclosed in US-399, motivated by the reasonable expectation of success. Furthermore, once the motivation to prepare the polyaniline-containing composition is provided, one having ordinary skill in the art would have readily envisaged the relative proportions of vinylpyrrolidone and the acid group-containing monomers used in the emulsion latex via routine experimentation. Regarding the recited emeraldine-type of polyaniline, the examiner is of the position that it is inherent in prior art product because applicant's product and that of the prior art appear to be substantially identical, as a dark green appearance was exemplified in the working examples using aniline as the cyclic heteroatom-containing monomer (see Examples 15, 19, 21, 23, 25, 27, 29, 31, 34, 36, and 38), indicative of the emeraldine-type product. Thus, rendering obvious the present claims.

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
